Heartworm Prevention

Heartguard, Interceptor

Thank you for visiting Blair Animal Hospital. We are delighted you have come to our Animal Hospital. Caring for your pet is so important and heartworm prevention is simple. A heartworm blood test is used to check for the evidence of the parasite, more commonly known as heartworm in your pet's bloodstream. Testing every year is recommended for dogs on year-round preventative care. Testing is also recommended when a pet owner switches between preventative medications.

Performing a heartworm test is a simple procedure. Negative results help determine your pet's good health and rule out the presence of heartworm disease.

We, at Blair Animal Hospital, are always concerned with a pet's over-all health. Preventative doses of heartworm products are only available from a veterinarian. We require you to be a patient of Blair Animal Hospital or to have proof of a current heartworm test within the last year from a licensed veterinarian to purchase any Heartworm Products. Heartworm testing at Blair Animal Hospital is $42.00, and results are provided the next day. Heartworm testing is included in your annual examination.

Thank you for your cooperation as we continue to provide the most comprehensive veterinary care for pet. If you have any questions, please feel free to speak with one of our veterinarians. We are always here, to offer you guidance and assistance with your heartworm prevention program.
